BROKEN HEART CAUSE OF DEATH

Is the Strange and Pitiable
Story Told of the Demise of a Little Tot

TWENTY MONTHS OF AGE

Was Marguerite Palmer who Mourned the Fact That she was no Longer "The Baby"

There is a strange and pitiable story told in connection with the death of little Marguerite, the twenty-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. David Palmer, who died at their home in North Sexton street, this morning at 4 o'clock.

The child had several ailments and had been under the care of a physician for over two weeks, still members of the family say the little one's death was caused by a broken heart.

Seven weeks ago a baby was born to the mother and immediately little Marguerite began to sulk and act in a strange and morose manner. The tot seemed to appreciate that it was no longer going to be "the baby."

She began to fail in health and two weeks was confined to the little bed on which she died this morning. Symptoms of several diseases appeared, but the family believe the child's demise came from a sad and broken heart.

The funeral services will be conducted at the residence by Rev. R. W. Aberley, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment in East Hill cemetery.

REMAINS BROUGHT TO THIS CITY TODAY

Joshua Northern Died at the East Haven Hospital Thursday Morning

Joshua Northern, who was taken to the East Haven hospital about three years ago from this city, because of mental derangement, died at that institution Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

A. R. Holden was called to Richmond last evening and arrived in this city with the remains this morning at 11:44 o'clock.

The remains may be viewed at Holden's undertaking parlors Thursday morning until noon.

The remains will be taken to the Little Flatrock cemetery for burial at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Deceased was the son of the late Isom Northern and was 41 years of age.

COST A FORTUNE FOR THE NEUTZENHELZER FAMILY

The Christian Endeavors of Little Flatrock Christian church will have a social for the young people of the community on next Friday evening. Games and amusements apropos of Washington's Birthday will be introduced throughout the evening. A penny for each letter in your name will be the admission charged at the door.

It's Different

"His Courtship," the next serial story to be published in the Daily Republican, first installment to begin Monday the 24th, is a story "that's just a little different" from the others. You will miss a good one if you fail to read "His Courtship." If you are reading your neighbor's paper order it for your self and save yourself the trouble of borrowing. Phone 1111.

AN ORCHESTRION IS NOT A WILD ANIMAL

But it's a Musical Instrument
Which the Greeks will Install Here

A new orchestron, imported from Germany, has just been received at the Greek candy store and will be set up this week, says the Columbus Republican. The old orchestron has been sold to a firm in Rushville. The new instrument will cost Zaharako Brothers $2000 and it will furnish as much music as a fifteen piece orchestra. It is over ten feet high, six feet wide and more than three feet deep. Sixty-two pieces of imported music, valued at $10 per roll, accompany the new orchestra.

LAUDS WILSON IN GREAT SHAPE

Rich, the Eldest Son in Famous Family, Receives Big Bouquet

"WILSON BRAND" IS RIGHT

Says the Western Horseman in Speaking of Rushville's New Starting Judge

Horse paper readers for the last half century, almost, have been familiar with the "Wilson family" of horsemen, of Rushville, Ind., says the Western Horseman, and know that not in name alone but by actual performance about every member of the family has fairly won his spurs as a horseman by his own deeds and accomplishments. "Jim Wilson" as he was called the country over, was, in his day, the most famous trotting horse breeder and turfman in the State. His sons, a "whole string of them," followed his footsteps and from the oldest one "Rich" down to the youngest, have all taken the full course from the rub rag to Grand Circuit mounts, and each one with conspicuous success.

Tiring of the sulky, "Rich" on the strong solicitations of his personal friends, who recognized his complete fitness for the work, has of recent years turned his attention to starting judge work at fair and race meetings at which work few have met with such signal success and at which none are more perfectly fitted by actual knowledge of and experience in the racing game. Being a man of fine personal appearance, thoroughly familiar with the rules and noted for his fairness, Mr. Wilson commands the respect of drivers and hence has their assistance in his work.

He has a full, voluminous and distinct voice, and his work always takes well with spectators, as well as with horsemen. There is much in a name. It has always been so and it always will be so, where the name is of the right brand. The "Wilson brand" of horsemen is all right, and personally "Rich" Wilson is all right, both as an all-around horseman and a starting judge.

SON OF BERT FOX DIES AT CINCINNATI TODAY

Clay Fox, son of Bert Fox, formerly of Arlington, now of Cincinnati, died this morning at 1:30 o'clock of catarrhal pneumonia, at the age of six years, two months and eighteen days. The remains will be brought to Arlington Thursday evening at 6 o'clock and the funeral services will be held Friday at the Methodist church there. Interments in the Arlington East Hill cemetery.

Sleighs were brought out today for the first time this winter.

FLAGMAN FOR R. R. CROSSINGS

City Council Passes Ordinance
Requiring Sunday Watchman at two Streets

MUST OBEY SPEED LIMIT

City Clerk will Notify all Companies to Run Slower
Through City

Prompted to action, by the horrible accident at the Main street crossing a few days since, when Dr. O. P. Dillon met his untimely death, the city council last night in regular session passed an ordinance requiring the O. H. & D. railroad company to maintain a flagman at the Main street and Perkins street crossing, each Sunday from 7:30 o'clock in the morning until 6:30 in the evening.

This is one of the best ordinances passed by the city council in years and is a timely safeguard.

The city council also instructed the city clerk to notify the railroads and interurban lines that they must comply with the speed ordinance in the future under penalty of the law. The speed limit is fifteen miles an hour.

EDITORIALETTES

GREENLEE WAS BUSY EARLY WITH HIS "WHITE WING"

Street Commissioner T. M. Greenlee was up at day break this morning and with a force of men had the snow and slush cleaned away that the school children could go to school on dry pavements. It required quite an effort to complete the work.

—Elwood Kirkwood, of near Glenwood, was in this city on business today.

WATSON'S TOGA NOW HANGS HERE

And Rushville is the Proper Place to Meet for the
"Try-On"

CHAIRMEN TO MEET FRIDAY

At Which Time a Date and Place for Congressional Convention will be Decided Upon

At a meeting of the county chairmen of the Sixth district in Cambridge City Friday, a date and place for holding the congressional convention will be decided upon. The convention will in all probability be held in Rushville as it is neutral grounds, has suitable convention hall, good hotel accommodations and excellent railroad facilities. Besides the Watson toga was left hanging on the hook here and it would be a suitable place for the candidates to come for the "try-on." Shelbyville is also after the convention, but as it was held there several times, including the last time, they will likely step out of the way for Rushville.

County Chairman Walker of Shelby county does not "seriously object" to having the convention here so things look good for one big day in the near future.

EPWORTH LEAGUE IN CONVENTION

Annual District Meeting will be held in Morristown—Smallest and Largest Societies.

The annual convention of the Epworth League chapters of the Connersville district will be held in Morristown, June 4 and 5. The district is composed of thirty-six chapters located in Shelby, Rush, Union, Franklin and Fayette counties and parts of Wayne, Decatur and Hancock counties. There are 1,424 members in the district, the largest chapter being from the First M. E. church at Connersville, with 160 members. The smallest is at Metamora, with twelve members.

PROF. WILLIAMS WILL SPEAK SUNDAY

Rushville Citizen is Honored by Local Labor Lyceum Program Committee

Because John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America cannot address the Labor Lyceum meeting in this city Sunday afternoon at the court house, as was announced, Prof. J. H. Williams, principal of the Washington school in this city, has been secured to speak.

Prof. Williams will deliver an address on "The Race Question." He is the foremost orator and educator of his race in this State, and is grand lecturer of the colored Masonic lodges of Indiana. Mr. Williams has spoken in almost every city in Indiana in the past few years and has made a good impression whenever he has appeared.

Recently he delivered the address of the day at a State meeting of the Colored Y. M. C. B. in Indianapolis. Prof. Williams will be well worth hearing.

THE WEATHER

Colder tonight with snow in north and generally fair in south portion. Thursday fair.

GUARDIAN ASKED FOR THE FATHER OF DR. O. P. DILLON

Howard Carmichael Files Petition in Rush Circuit Court—an Heir is Interested

Howard B. Carmichael filed a petition today in the Rush circuit court asking the court to appoint a guardian for Jefferson O. Dillon, father of the late Dr. O. P. Dillon.

A suit was filed several months ago asking for a guardian, but the case was dismissed. The defendant is the grandfather of Parvin Dillon Norris, the ten-year-old son of the unfortunate victim of the railroad accident, and Mrs. Rena Norris, his first wife, who was a Carmichael.

Watson, Tittsworth & Green are attorneys for the plaintiff.

WRECKER LIGHTS LEAD MEN ASTRAY

Evangelist Willis Spoke on Some Things to Shun—His Best
Sermon Tonight

A number of stalwart Christians journeyed through the storm last night and were in attendance at the evangelistic meeting at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Willis spoke "Our Stars" and a beautiful sermon it was throughout; many pictures were vividly drawn of the saving grace and the great power of guidance of Jesus Christ, the true guiding star, that will lead me to the greater Bethlehem. "Jesus Christ is a fixed star, unchangeable," said the evangelist "men sometimes become false, but Jesus never, for he never changes."

Mr. Willis said that he had begun to touch on the many big sins prevalent among men, but would deal with the lesser and venial grievances first. Then without gloves did he handle the question of putting the girl and boy right with good home influences. Along this line the games indulged in at home which lead the boy to the pool room were mentioned, as was the practice of eating imitation tobacco done up in licorice candies; the straw berries and drops containing brandy which created an appetite for liquor in the young folks and the trashy literature, Jesse James, Tip Top and other cheap novels. These things he catalogued as "wrecker lights" which lead the young people off from the right path.

Mr. Willis will deliver one of his best sermons tonight when he will speak on "Ambassadors" at seven thirty o'clock.

RUSH COUNTY MINISTER MOVES TO SHELBYVILLE

Rev. G. L. Mann, of Homer, Rush county, will remove to this city today, says the Shelbyville News. Rev. Mann is the pastor of the Christian Union churches of Rays Crossing, Blue Ridge and Brownsville.

Greenfield Tribune: The damage suit of Irving Tyner against the Southern Indiana Gas Co., et al for $20,000 damages, was set for trial Monday, Feb. 17th, but was venued to Rush county on motion of the defendants.

As the Dove Decended

An incident that may be termed a coincident, happened at the Christian church Sunday, says the Greensburg Review, which made a deep impression on the audience. While Mr. St. John was singing a beautiful solo, the refrain of which is "Not a Sparrow Falls," based on the scripture read at Matthew 10:30, a little sparrow flitted into the room through an open window. The effect was thrilling, and served to accentuate the sentiment of the song.

NEW COURSE OF ENGLISH STUDY

Practical Public Speaking Being Taught in High School
by Prof. McDaniels

ALSO PRACTISE BREATHING

And Pupils are Given Frequent
-Practise in Oral Expression—
Other School Notes

BY PROF. J. H. SCHOLL
A comparison of the enrollment, attendance and visitors for the first five months of the present and the last school year shows an increase in enrollment and visitors. If it were not for the irregularity of attendance in the primary grades a much better showing would result.

The entertainments given by Col. O. H. French last week were excellent.

The one on the Yellowstone National Park was instructive and entertaining. The lecture on "Reme" was especially fine; The slides were the very best and the lecture was scholarly and well delivered. The grade schools netted $20.05 and the "Classical Club," $11.72. This amount will be used to purchase books and decorations.

A new course in English is being taught by Prin. M. R. McDaniel. The course is called "Practical Public Speaking" and the object is to train students to express themselves forcibly and clearly in public. A number of first class orations are studied as types of the best expression. A number of breathing exercises are practiced and the pupils are given frequent practice in oral expression. During the term each pupil will commit and deliver original productions, debates and some of the famous orations that stand out as masterpieces. This is a very practical course and visitors are welcome at any time. Daily at 8:35 a. m.

The Indiana State High School Oratorical Contest will be held May 8th. The place has not yet been selected but it is likely that Crawfordsville will be chosen.

Classes in music and drawing in the high school are taught each day at 2:50 p. m. Drawing Monday, Wednesday and Friday; music, Tuesday and Thursday.

WATSON WINS IN DELAWARE COUNTY

Congressman Believed to Have won Twenty-seven Delegates in Spirited Primary

The Indianapolis Star has the following from Muncie: "Incomplete returns from the ballots cast today in the Delaware County Republican primary election point toward a sweeping victory for the candidates representing the George W. Oromer element of the party and almost a landslide for Congressman man James E. Watson in the selection of delegates to the State convention."

"At midnight the county central committee announced that out of twenty precincts heard from, out of a total of thirty, indications were that Watson would get twenty delegates and a conservative estimate of the members of the committee gives Watson a total of twenty-seven delegates in the entire county."

—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Henley and children and Edwin Megee, of Chicago, were here today to attend the Megee-McIntosh wedding.

—First Church of Christ, Scientist. Regular Wednesday evening testimonial meeting in the court house assembly room at 7:45. All are cordially invited.

THE LID COMES OFF

Hartford City Club Women Again Offering Prizes at Card Parties.

GET OVER THEIR FRIGHT

With the Growing Laxity In the Enforcement of Blue Laws Society Women Regain Their Nerve.

Mayor's Order That the Offer of Prizes Would Lead to Arrest Created Alarm.

Hartford City, Ind., Feb. 19.—With the growing laxity in the blue laws, Hartford City club women have regained their nerve and are offering prizes at their card parties again.

It is hardly correct to say that prizes are being given "again," for in most instances the hostesses never quit the practice. When Mayor Lucas announced the blue reign in order to satisfy the clamor for good government he included card playing for prizes in his list of things that were to be placed under a ban. Women who failed to heed the mayor's orders were to be arrested, and, needless to state, they were alarmed to a certain extent. While the playing for prizes was not stopped, the impression was given out that there was "nothing doing" at the club meetings except friendly games of parlor croquet, ping-pong, pit, authors and such, for which the best player received nothing, not even honorable mention in the newspapers.

Considering everything, it is regarded as remarkable that the women were able to keep it quiet. Yet they guarded their secret with jealousy, and in some instances even succeeded in keeping the mention of the club meeting out of the newspapers. They are not so particular now, and do not even object to the names of the prize winners being published. The novelty of the lid has worn off considerably since it was put on five weeks ago.

CONVICTED AS A BIGAMIST

Brought to Book in England After Marrying Thirty-Two Women.

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 19.—Dr. Arthur Witzhoff, who has been sentenced in Bristol, England, to seven years' penal servitude for bigamy, was once the husband of Jennie Reider, who is better known here as Madame Zingara. Witzhoff has written his autobiography, in which he confesses to having married thirty-two wives. He tells of his marriage to the Logansport woman, whom he met at her home in Mendon, Mich. He was then posing as a dentist, and after his marriage they removed to Milwaukee. His courtship of her, while brief, was ardent and tinged with romance.

Standing over the grave of the girl's mother in the little cemetery in Mendon, he took the hand of his fiancée and pledged eternal love and fidelity. They were married shortly afterward and went to housekeeping in Milwaukee. His bride had about $3,000 which she had inherited from her mother, and this Witzhoff succeeded in getting from her by saying that he needed it to patent some dentistry tools which, he said, would make him a millionaire once they were on the market. She gave him her money, and with it lost her husband. He went away and never came back.

Following her desertion Mrs. Witzhoff, or Jennie Reider, as she resumed her maiden name, came to Logansport. The news that her faithless husband had been sent to prison is satisfactory to her.

Took It Out on the Teacher.

Noblesville, Ind., Feb. 19.—David Leonard, a farmer northwest of this city, was prosecuted on the charge of assaulting Isaac Hodson, teacher of the school in Mr. Leonard's neighborhood. Leonard pleaded guilty to striking Hodson with a board, and also to pursuing him with a butcher knife, and he was fined a total of $23, which he paid. The trouble grew out of a punishment administered by Hodson to Leonard's son, a pupil in his school. Leonard claimed that Hodson went to extremes in punishing the boy.

President Millis Takes Charge.

Hanover, Ind., Feb. 19.—President W. A. Millis has charge of the work at Hanover college. His first appearance in chapel was the signal for a big demonstration. In a brief talk the new president had a message of hope for both faculty and students. President Millis has taken charge of the outside work of the college, and will divide his time between Hanover, the Crawfordsville schools and Wabash till June 1, after which time he will be in complete control of Hanover affairs.

Fatal Mine Accident.

Linton, Ind., Feb. 19.—John Masters, thirty years old, employed at Vandallia mine No. 3, was killed by falling slate. His home was at Aurora, Ind.

Child Choked to Death.

Osgood, Ind., Feb. 19.—Lindsey Akers, the three-year-old son of Howard Akers, choked to death while eating ground parched corn.

Wheat on the Chicago exchange sold Tuesday at 91c.

NOTHING TO SAY

Uncle Joe Maintained Silence in Presence of Eulogist.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Speaker Cannon's presidential boom received an impetus in the house of representatives when Mr. Boutelle, his colleague from Illinois, brought the subject to the fore as the climax of a half hour's speech. His remarks were based on the fact that yesterday was the thirty-fourth anniversary of Mr. Cannon's first speech in the house. Mr. Boutelle spoke with enthusiasm, and when he closed with the remark that within the next few months "the plain people of the country would join the voters of Mr. Cannon's district in conferring upon him the nation's final honor," the speaker was accorded a great demonstration.

Keen disappointment was felt on all sides when the speaker made no reply. He stepped from the rostrum and, amid cheering, retired to his room while the house considered pension bills. Most of the day was taken up by a discussion of the bill to provide for taking the next census.

The Aldrich currency bill was opposed in the senate by Mr. Stone of Missouri. During Mr. Stone's argument in advocacy of the plan for government guarantee of deposits in national banks, Senator Bacon of Georgia took occasion to oppose that proposition at some length. Mr. Bacon declared that if such a plan were put into effect state banks would be put out of business, as their deposits would find their way into national banks.

The bill to revise the criminal code of the United States was considered during a couple of hours in the afternoon.

MADE COOL CONFESSIO

Teacher Calmly Admits Driving Tack Through Child's Tongue.

Canal Dover, O., Feb. 19.—Pleading guilty to the charge of driving a carpet tack through the tongue of Sampson Fowler, seven years old, an inmate of the Tuscarawas county children's home, Miss Clara Sterling, assistant matron, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Donebach. The punishment of the child is said to have been an attempt to wring from him a confession of the theft of a fellow inmate's lead pencil. The suffering of the child, whose tongue is swollen so terribly that food cannot be taken, brought the disclosure.

The arrest of Miss Sterling, who is a niece of Robert Nugen, superintendent of the institution, came about through complaint of a janitor, who told a humane officer of seeing the assistant matron drive the tack into the child's tongue. The warrant was sworn out by Humane Agent Jackson. The police chief is authority for the declaration that Miss Sterling made no denial, but admitted calling the child before the school in the home and compelling him to extend his tongue over a chair back while she drove a carpet tack into the tongue with a small hammer. Other pupils, the police chief said, confirmed the story. The young woman is said to have pleaded guilty to the charge, making no protest at the punishment of the mayor.

Fixing to Welcome Fleet.

Lima, Feb. 19.—Four special steamers carrying 2,000 excursionists will start out from Callao early tomorrow morning to welcome the American fleet. In all parts of Lima and Callao the government is putting up posters of welcome to the fleet, surrounded by the stars and stripes. Arches of a similar nature have been erected and will be illuminated with electric lights representing the star spangled banner.

A $75,000 Blaze.

Leechburg, Pa., Feb. 19.—Property worth $75,000 was destroyed by fire. Two buildings, containing ten business establishments and living apartments of two families, were destroyed.

Joke on a Presidential Possibility. Congressman J. Sloat Fassett of New York, who attended the Lincoln day banquet in Pittsburg, sprang a joke on the newspaper men the other afternoon. In spite of the fact that it had whiskers, it made a hit. Fassett in discussing presidential possibilities declared that the people of New York want Charles Evans Hughes for president.

"But what if Hughes cannot get the nomination?" he was asked. "Well, that's another question," he answered. "It reminds me of Lord Dundreary's story. He asked a woman if her brother Charlie liked cheese, and she replied that she had no brother Charlie. "Well," said Lord Dundreary, "if you had a brother Charlie, do you think he would like cheese?" So that is the best answer I can give to your question about Hughes."

Jewels Outside Your Furs.

A new fashion set by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish interested the tea drinkers in the Plaza hotel in New York, the other afternoon. Mrs. Fish arrived at the Fifty-eighth street entrance of the Plaza when the rooms were thronged. She wore a long cloak of broadtail fastened by a diamond ornament of great size. Except for these gems there was no dash of color to relieve the costume. In a flash this innovation had sunk deep into the hearts of other women, and the way in which jewels were quickly shifted after Mrs. Fish had been seen seemed to indicate that in future gems will not hide their light under fur cloaks.

HE DID NOT KNOW

Former Governor Pennypacker Admits Ignorance of Details of His Job.

RELiance ON ARCHITECT

This Reliance Firm, at the Time, Continues Unshaken Even In the Face of Evidence, He Says.

Former President of Capital Board Still Thinks His Work Was "A Great Achievement."

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 19.—Former Governor Pennypacker was an important witness at the state capital conspiracy trial. Mr. Pennypacker while governor was ex-officio president of the board of grounds and buildings during the equipment of the capitol. His colleagues on the board were former Auditor General Snyder and former State Treasurer Mathues. Its executive officer was former Superintendent Shumaker. The former governor was called as a witness for these three former state officers.

Mr. Pennypacker told of the selection of Joseph M. Huston by the board to prepare the plans and specifications for the capitol furnishings and of the award of contract to Sanderson. He said extraordinary precautions had been taken to safeguard the commonwealth in the payment of bills by requiring the architect and the superintendent of grounds and buildings to certify to them and the contractor to make oath to their correctness.

The former governor admitted under cross-examination that he did not know that $1,069,000 had been paid by Snyder and Mathues to Sanderson without the approval of the board or that on Jan. 10, 1905, the date of the adoption of the resolution by the board requiring the architect's certificate on bills, that $2,000,000 had been paid to Sanderson in excess of Huston's estimate on the cost of the furnishings.

Mr. Pennypacker said he had no reason for thinking that Huston did not do as fully as he could the work he was called upon to do. "If you are asking me for a judgment," he said, "I think it is a great achievement." Asked how long his reliance upon the architect continued, the answer was: "It continues down to the present times, unless I am shown reason to the contrary."

The commonwealth showed in the cross-examination of James H. Stevenson, Sanderson's bookkeeper, that bills for furniture for the senate and house, amounting to over $600,000, were made out as so many feet in bulk and paid in the course of Sanderson's business, and that several months afterward Stevenson, when ordered by Sanderson to make out detail bills, simply took the lump sum of feet and "apportioned" it among the articles, gleaming some information from blue-prints and receiving the remainder from Sanderson.

Stevenson had some "feet" left, and he added that to the rostrums of the senate and house caucus rooms. Evidence was introduced by the defense to show that in spite of the "approximation" system of billing the Sanderson furnishings, the state was the gainer to the extent of $348,227.15 on Sanderson's bills for furniture, and that Sanderson could have collected $1,234,291.55 instead of $876,066.40 for the furniture.

FACES SENTENCE

General Stoessel Does Not Flinch at Last Stage of Trial.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—The trial of Lieutenant General Stoessel has reached the last act, the prosecution waiving the privilege of putting in rebuttal to the defense. The last word was given to the accused general, who uttered only a few sentences in a firm voice and shouldered the entire responsibility for the surrender of Port Arthur. "If the court decides that the surrender was a crime," he concluded, "I ask for the death sentence." The court is expected to close the proceedings today with its decision.

Repeated His Indiana Speech.

Columbus, O., Feb. 19.—Mr. Bryan addressed the general assembly in joint session in the hall of representatives on the subject of guaranteeing bank deposits. Mr. Bryan was accorded an enthusiastic reception by the legislators, and his address, which was confined closely to his subject, was heard with marked attention. Last night Mr. Bryan was the sole speaker at a dollar dinner given at Memorial hall, under the auspices of the Democratic members of the general assembly. Twelve hundred persons were seated at the tables and twice that number had seats in the gallery. Mr. Bryan's subject was "The Point of View."

Serious Clash Expected.

Tiflis, Feb. 19.—Kurdish hordes, commanded by Ali Khan, have advanced to the village of Miandab, where Prince Firman Firma, the Persian minister of justice recently appointed governor of the province of Azerbaijan, now has made his headquarters, and a clash with these Kurds, it is feared, would prove disastrous to the prince, as the Persian troops are deserting in large numbers.

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

Are Promised in Connection With Arrest of Philadelphia Broker.

Philadelphia, Feb. 19.—Lewis S. Cox, an insurance broker, was arrested here on a warrant charging him with forging a check for $30,000 on the Quakertown National bank of Quakertown, Pa. Cox was taken after a struggle with officers, during which he attempted to shoot himself.

Cox, according to the police authorities, admitted the charge and declared his action was taken with the knowledge of Dr. Joseph Thomas, president of the Quakertown National bank, who died suddenly about two weeks ago. Cox further alleged, it is stated, that Dr. Thomas cut his throat, but this statement is denied by members of the Thomas family and the family physician.

The warrant for the arrest of Cox was issued at the instance of Byron Thomas, son of the bank president, who recently discovered the forgery. The accused, who is about sixty-six years old, has had a spectacular career as a financier in this city. He was a partner of the late William M. Singler in some financial undertakings which contributed to Singler's failure and the closing of a national bank of which Singler was president.

Cox will be taken to Quakertown for a hearing, at which sensational developments are promised.

The investigation which led to Cox's arrest was brought about by the discounting of a $12,000 note discounted by Dr. Thomas. Cox, it appears, married a cousin of Dr. Thomas and had transacted considerable business through him. The notes discounted were supposed to have been given to Cox by reputable business men to cover premiums on insurance policies.

According to Cashier Charles Harding of the Quakertown National bank, the estate of Dr. Thomas is well able to stand a loss of $25,000 or more, and the prosecution was brought by the son to protect his father's name and reputation as a financier.

Followed Clue to Bulgaria.

Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 19.—Using as a clue a small key found last fall among the bones of a human skeleton turned up in a field by hunting dogs, detectives have traced the alleged murderer of Ivan Kalkimov, at Masontown, a year ago, to Bulgaria, and he will be brought back here for trial.

Teaching the Drummer.

It was the custom in the days of our old navy for the men to bring to the mast all the wornout articles which were to be inspected, handed in and exchanged for new. The drummer had applied for so many drum heads that the commodore felt sure he was being imposed upon and one day set himself to watch while the band was playing. As one rattling martial air followed another his anger increased perceptibly until he burst forth in uncontrollable rage:

"There, now, confound you! I see why you use so many drum heads. Don't drum in the middle of it all the time. Drum all over that drum, I tell you!"

Do you get up at night? SANOL is surely the best for all kidney or bladder troubles. SANOL GIVES relief in 2 hours from all backache and bladder troubles. Get a 35c trial bottle at the drug store

Do you have that dark brown taste in your mouth every morning when you awake? If so, you are bilious and should take two or three of those little BLOOD LINE LIVER PILLS, easy to take, never sicken, weaken or gripe, 50c mailed by The Bloodline Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Farmers

Mrs. James Downey came down from Anderson last Wednesday morning to visit Ohas. Leisure and other relatives. John Miligan went to Williamstown Saturday morning. C. M. Hackleman sold his farm to J. L. Leisure last week for $125 per acre. It doesn't look as if the panic is having much effect on this neighborhood. Charles Smith has hired to Henry Leisure. Our Ananias club is getting new members every day. We are going to get ahead of the Rushville club. The Posey township Republicans met Saturday and selected delegates and nominated a township ticket. It was a bad day, but there were many Republicans present and much interest was shown. It looks as if the Republican party is going to do something in Posey this time. Wm. Panley and Garland Moore visited R. S. Whitton Sunday.

Freemans.

O. P. Freeman made a business trip to Rushville, Tuesday. Jim Linville, of Buena, moved on the Evans-Worth farm Monday. John Spencer moved a new man into his tenant house, recently vacated by Ed. Angle. Clifford Manley, of Laurel, is spending a few days here with his sister, Mrs. O. P. Freeman. The board of health failed to make an investigation of the so-called itch at Freeman's school. The school is progressing nicely and we have no itch here now. Mrs. Lizzie Hite, who has been in a critical condition, is reported no better. Frank Higgins and wife are both sick at their home in Clarksburg. Mrs. Liza McDaniel, south of Andersonville, is reported very sick. Lewis Barber and Miss Bessie Moore were calling on Merritt Ryons one evening last week. Lon Kerrick was hauling hay last week. Mrs. Frank Cupp, who has been visiting her parents here, returned home Saturday. Herman Roles went to Indianapolis Tuesday to buy a team of horses. Roy Davis who recently moved into the Foley property has moved back to Buena Vista. There are more houses to rent now. Mrs. Deborah Linville and daughter are both very poorly. Dr. Metcalf is attending them. Joe Jackson moved to Sandusky Tuesday into the property owned by his wife, formerly Mrs. Duncan's. Joe says all he has to do now is to turn on the asbestos and sit in the big armed rocking chair and warm his shins. Suppose they will have plenty of gas now. Squire Helman is thinking of going into the dairy business, he has already in his possession a species of the Jersey Isle kind, which he says when it grows to maturity it will make the world beater for milk and butter. Its eyes are very large with cream colored rings around them. These marks, he says, denote the quality and equality of milk and butter. The only thing that seems to worry him now is its legs. They are about four inches long and look like a cross between the bull-terrier and bench (legged) fice, which we would judge will not come up to the standard mark for milking qualities, yet the squire says the legs will grow as the calf matures.

FRESH AIR SCHOOL.

Marked Success of First One Established In United States.

WINDOWS KEPT WIDE OPEN.

Nearly All of Twenty Pupils Studying at Providence Showed Signs of Tuberculosis or Had Consumptive Parents—Warm Cotton Bags For Legs.

While the thermometer hovered in the vicinity of zero a few days ago twenty girls and boys, pupils of the first fresh air school in the United States, sat snugly and warmly wrapped in their cotton bags in the old Meeting street school at Providence, R. I. They apparently were as comfortable as the thousands of pupils in the other schools in the city despite the fact that the temperature maintained in the room was at no time above 45 degrees.

The public school authorities are enthusiastic over the success that the fresh air school has achieved in a few weeks' existence. At a meeting of the school board Superintendent Small reported that he was more than pleased with the outlook and expressed the opinion that the fresh air school will be one of the most beneficial public institutions Providence ever has had.

Already, he said, the children, living practically all day in the cool, fresh air, are beginning to show signs of improvement. Little faces that were sallow and pinched a few weeks ago have a healthy flush, and children who were too tired to play are beginning to show some interest in life. All of this, Mr. Small told the school board, is what the fresh air school has accomplished.

Mr. Small expects to see the day when at least three of his small pupils who are now suffering with consump- tion will have been cured. The school was founded at the insti- gation of the League For the Suppres- sion of Tuberculosis, and it is primari- ly intended not only to fight the spread of the white plague, but also to teach the children the value of fresh air as a health producer and destroyer of the germs of disease.

The school is under the direction of Mrs. Mary Appleton. The pupils were selected from children who were suf- fering with some disease which dis- qualified them from attending other public schools. Each was subjected to a physical examination by a physician before he or she was admitted. When their names were placed on the roll book, they became at once patients and pupils.

Ten children answered the roll on the first day, but before the week ended this number had been increased to twenty. Some of them have attended other schools, but others never had been within the walls of an institution of that kind. Many of the children showed signs of consumption; others have parents who have had that dis- ease; others have tuberculosis of the bones. One has heart trouble.

A record of the condition of the chil- dren is taken from time to time, and such suggestions as the doctors may think necessary for the improvement of their health are carried out by the teachers.

The schoolroom is on the second floor of the building. The south side of the room, facing on Meeting street, is wide open to allow sunshine and fresh air to enter. Five swinging win- dows are caught up by means of a rope and pulleys and can be lowered in case of rain or snow. They are so adjusted that, while fresh air is al- ways circulating through the room, there is at no time a draft.

H. A. Kramer slaughters Rush county's best cattle and hogs. Phone 1569.

The furniture in the room is of the same kind as is used in the other public school buildings. The room is heated by a big round stove in the center.

In order that as much protection as possible may be given the children they are allowed to wear their coats and hats while in the schoolroom. Their legs are incased in warm cotton bags, which are drawn up as far as the waist and then tied. If the child feels cold notwithstanding this protection, the teacher gives him permission to sit by the stove. In case the feet get cold despite the bag, soapstone warmers are placed under them.

For the rest, the scholars are in- structed in the studies that are taught in other public schools. The sessions are from 9 to 11:45 a. m. and from 12:45 to 3 p. m.

Window Cleaning In College Course. Dirty windows are a bane to the flat dweller, for her maid absolutely re- fuses to wash them, and of course the janitor is away on mild days. In such circumstances it is a lemonlike smile that will create the features of the New York housekeeper when she hears of a new move in King's college, Lon- don. A course in domestic theory has been established there, and much time will be given to the ethics of scrub- bing. Surely scrubbing should include windows. The first course will begin in next October. "Students who have been graduated in science should be able to condense this special course into one year," says the head master. "As far as I am aware, nothing of this new course of study has been attempt- ed in Europe."

Bungle's Bad Break.

Mr. Bungle always takes a deep and sympathetic interest in the welfare of his fellow man. While out for a stroll one day he met a friend, who seemed in a great hurry.

"Hold on, Jones," said Bungle, grab- bing his friend's arm. "Why this rush?" "Bungle," said Jones, removing his hat and wiping his brow, "I'm hot foot- ing it to a specialist. I believe my brain is affected."

Mr. Bungle, to allay the fears of his friend and show the customary com- miseration, said jovially:

"Pshaw, Jones, you shouldn't worry about such a little thing as that!"

"Wh-hat?" "I mean you shouldn't let such a lit- tle thing as your brain—that is, Mr. Jones, you shouldn't get so excited over nothing—of course—ah, good day, Mr. Jones!"—Bohemian.

"ISSUE" FOR 1908

The Practical Application of the Theoretical Victory of 1896.

FEELING OF THE LEADERS

Mr. Fowler Expresses the Ideas of His Following In the Committee on the Coming Campaign.

Financial Attitude to Be Assumed
by Republicans In Chicago
Next June Discussed.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The feeling on the part of certain leaders of the house that the character of the curren- cy bill which may be passed this ses- sion of congress will be in a large mea- sure determinative of the financial at- titude to be assumed by the Republi- can party in Chicago next June, was given emphasis by Chairman Fowler of the house committee on banking and currency.

"The campaign of 1896," he said, "was fought out upon a single issue—the establishment of the gold stan- dard, which means absolutely, except so far as it is a measure of value, as related to credits. The issue of the campaign of 1908 should be the practical application of the theoretical vic- tory of 1896."

"The people of the United States should now demand that the reserves in our banks be in gold coin, and suf- ficient in quantity to prove our cred- its and protect all depositors. Every creditor of a bank should have the op- tion of having his credit upon the books subject to a check, or in a cur- rent credit of the bank redeemable in gold coin. To insure all depositors or banks that their credits upon the books, or current credits, are redeem- able in gold coin, let us deposit in the treasury of the United States a guar- anty fund of $700,000,000. The option of a creditor of a bank to have his credit upon the books subject to a check or in a current credit redeem- able in gold, will give us a true credit currency which will adjust itself to the ever varying conditions of trade, never too great, never too small, al- ways just enough. The guaranty fund in the treasury amounting to $700,000,000, protecting both depositors and noteholders without discrimination or preference, will prevent panics and stop all hoarding of money."

IN GRIP OF STORM

Severest Boreen Visitation Chicago
Has Had For Years.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—The most violent storm that has visited Chicago in many years commenced yesterday at 7 o'clock in the morning, and raged with increasing violence throughout the day and all night. By 4 o'clock in the afternoon seven inches of snow had fallen, and it was still coming down heavily. The wind at frequent intervals blew with a velocity of fifty miles an hour, and it hurled the snow through the streets in such blinding clouds that it was impossible to see for a greater distance than half a square, and often the range of vision would be limited to a few feet. A great number of accidents of a minor character were caused by collisions between wagons and between wagons and streetcars.

Traffic on surface and suburban lines was practically tied up last night and down-town hotels were filled with residents of outlying districts who found themselves unable to reach their homes. A tragic occurrence in connection with the storm was the wrecking in the harbor at Waukegan of the fishing boat Anspach, in which two men lost their lives and six others narrowly escaped death. At Ham- mond two men, blinded by the storm, were run down by a train and fatally injured. In the vicinity a woman, over- come by exhaustion, was found dying in the snow.

Death Sentence Confirmed.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19.—The court of appeals has decided that Chester Gillette of Cortland must die in the electric chair for the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown of South Ot- selle, Chenango county, at Big Moose lake in the Adirondacks, on July 11, 1906. The court affirmed the judgment of conviction of murder in the first degree and the sentence of death, ren- dered at the extraordinary term of the supreme court in Herkimer county.

Suffering Among Flood Victims.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 19.—The Ohio river continues to rise here and re- ports received from towns along the lower Ohio river are discouraging. All the side streams are still rising and the end of the flood is not in sight. The White river at Hazleton is sub- merging many lowland houses, and there is considerable suffering among the flood victims.

Two Boys and a Gun.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Henry Scarlotta, five years old, was accidentally shot and killed by his brother James, eight years old, while the two were at play in their home here. The mother of the children was away from the house, and in her absence the older boy found a revolver belonging to his father.

RILEY'S FIRST HIT.

Wrote a Poem "by Poe" and Palmed It on the Public.

James Whitcomb Riley began his career in a newspaper office in Anderson, Ind., by writing humorous rhymes as "advertising locals" — "doggerel" he called them. At the same time he wrote many rhymes with the serious intention of having them, if possible, recognized as poems. But he could not get them published. Even composi- tions whose worth he had tested—those that "would please people when I'd stand up and read 'em to them"—would be returned promptly by every maga- zine to which he offered them for pub- lication. The Hoosier dialect was too "low down" for the average magazine editor.

Finally in a freak of boyish indigna- tion, to prove that what editors really wanted was not originality, but imita- tion, he devised the scheme of writing a poem in imitation of Poe and of palming it off on the public as a real poem of Poe's recently discovered. The scheme was very skillfully planned and very deftly executed and success- ful beyond anything the clever deviser of it had ever dreamed. From one end of the country to the other "Leonie" was hailed as a veritable "find," a bit of genius' most genuine ore. Riley had his revenge. He had some trouble, however, in proving that he was not an intentional forger.

He lost his newspaper position, but he immediately got another and better one on the Indianapolis Journal. "Come and get pay for your work," said Judge Martindale, the editor. The turn in the tide had come.

A BORN SOLDIER.

Major General Stuart, the Dashing Cavalry Leader.

Major General J. E. B. Stuart of the Confederate cavalry was a soldier by nature. Dashing and daring, cool in the face of danger, he was one of the brave and picturesque figures of the civil war. H. B. McClellan quotes in "Life and Campaigns of Major General Stuart" from General Fitz-Hugh Lee's impression of the future cavalry lead- er while he was still at West Point:

"I recall his distinguishing charac- teristics, which were strict attention to military duty; erect, soldierly bearing; immediate and almost thankful accept- ance of a challenge to fight; from any cadet who might feel himself in any way aggrieved and a clear, ringing voice."

Stuart was a most cheerful soldier. That "clear" voice of his was often used in singing his favorite war song:

If you want to have a good time,
Join the cavalry.

His courageous attitude was held until the very end. He was wounded by a pistol on the battlefield. As he was being carried away he noticed the disorganized ranks of his retreating men.

"Go back!" he called out. "Go back! Do your duty as I have done mine! Go back! I'd rather die than be whip- ped!"

Those were his last words on the field of battle. Later he said, with the same courage:

"I'm going fast now. God's will be done."

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA, FEBRUARY 19 1908

Dr. Hurty says that 350 Indians will die of pneumonia this month. We trust that the readers of the Republican will take warning and govern themselves accordingly.

It is understood that five of the nine Republican county chairmen of the Sixth district are in favor of not holding the Congressional convention until after the State convention.

A Mr. Onion is a candidate for office in Texas, and a Mr. Stake is a candidate in Pennsylvania. Stake and Onions would make an appealing combination for a Presidential effect.

The signing of the arbitration treaty between America and France is another reminder that peace and good will are making headway in the world. Every such treaty is a step forward in Christian civilization and human brotherhood.

At this time when even Democrats are ardent admirers of Lincoln, it would be difficult to present readers of his laudations to believe that he was one of the most abused presidents the country ever had, but a file of almost any daily newspaper from 1861 to 1865 will prove it.

It is perhaps not generally known that pedestrians have the right of way. Nearly all vehicles compel the people to step aside for them. A California court has decided that a pedestrian isn't obliged to dodge an automobile. That's good law, but their friends are frequently unable to recognize them after the collision.

Rushville merchants are planning to push more vigorously for business during the year 1908 than they ever have before in the history of the city. The outlook is good for a large increase in the business of all merchants and business men. We are glad to note their present prosperity and desire to reach out farther after more business in an honest and straightforward manner.

In an experiment about to take place the telephone lines between Paris and Berlin and London will be united so that a photographic image may be transmitted over the wires to the three cities at the same time. This process if tele-photography is said to be a success, and several European cities will be equipped for its practical use.

Senator Beveridge, in manly, outspoken words, in his great speech at Wabash, set at rest the foolish stories about his opposition to vice President Fairbanks. None of Mr. Fairbanks' most ardent friends could question the senator's plain utterances—the Indiana's delegation at Chicago is to stand as a rock for Fairbanks until he is nominated or he himself releases the delegation, and then it is to be voted for the man who appeals to the delegates as the best candidate, not delivered to anybody.

People generally are undecided as to the parcel post bill introduced by Senator Burnham, which proposes to make a beginning by limiting the law to the rural free delivery routes, with the provision that packages may only be shipped from the towns where these routes have their starting points. This would be legislation directly in the interest of the local merchants, while at the same time affording material relief to the patrons of the routes. Under the provisions of the bill packages up to a weight of eleven pounds could be mailed at a cost of five cents for the first pound and two cents for each additional pound. What amplification the future might bring to it are problematic, but it is an assured fact that they would be only of such character as public opinion would sanction and endorse.

W. J. Bryan, when not talking politics, says some really good things. For instance he is quite correct in saying that "the general prevalence of the 'get-rich-quick' mania today is tion of the county committee. With two aggressive candidates for county chairman, each backed by ardent partisans, the fight here is growing warmer with the passing of each hour. John Navin and William Fogarty are the two aspirants for the position of chairman.

Congressman J. A. M. Adair of Portland, who came here for the Bryan banquet, announced that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. He will not make a personal canvass of the state, as he expects to remain in Washington to look after his duties in congress, but he said that his name will be presented at the convention.

CURRENT COMMENT

The announcement of a fresh novel by William Dean Howells does not set the world agog, but it surely is possible that an author who has written so many good things can still spring a surprise upon the reading public.

The usual skepticism regarding "stage money" will be shaken by the fact that the closing of a bank in the theatrical district has tied up actors' deposits ranging from $70 to $40,000.

How Railroad Fortunes .... Are Made.

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

FORTUNES that have been made by railroad managers have not come from SALARIES, for EVEN ENORMOUS SALARIES DO NOT MAKE MILLIONAIRES in so short a time.

IF A RAILROAD PRESIDENT RECEIVES $100,000 A YEAR, HE HAS TO WORK FIFTY YEARS TO EARN $5,000,000, BUT IF HE IS ALLOWED TO JUGGLE THE STOCK OF THE ROAD HE CAN MAKE MORE IN A FEW MONTHS' TIME ON THE SIDE THAN HE CAN IN A LIFETIME BY HONEST ATTENTION TO THE MANAGEMENT OF THE ROAD.

I have not changed my opinion expressed in my Madison Square Garden speech, but have stated that federal ownership is not an issue and will not be in the campaign of 1908. I stated in that speech that THE RAILROADS THEMSELVES WERE TO BLAME FOR THE DISCUSSION OF THE SUBJECT and that their refusal to submit to regulation would force the people to consideration of ownership.

My opinion is that the railroads will do in the future what they have in the past—namely, RESIST NECESSARY REGULATIONS.

FOUR MINUTE SERMON FROM LIFE

Being the Story of a Real Character in Rushville Who is as Happy as it is Possible for Man to be Happy

"I wish I had an income of from five to ten dollars a day and I believe I would be thoroughly satisfied with life," a city official said the other day when one of the wealthiest men in Rushville had just passed and caused the thought to arise. But would he be satisfied? No, never; God does not satisfy men by such means. If a good fairy would appear and say to him, "My good sire, your wish shall become a reality on the morrow," he would experience a happy emotion, no doubt, and would probably walk on air for a few days, but soon he would be back in his old rut of wishing, wishing, wishing. Life of course, would be changed to a certain degree. He would wear finer feathers, be pleasure bent on more occasions, associate with smarter and cleverer people, but in the end—and the end would not be far away—when he would find the brightness begin to wear off things he considered heavenly before, and like all things worldly, begin to fade and get on his nerves and be as common as anything he indulged in before the transformation to the altar of Mammon, then would he long for other things just out of his reach. Those are always the sweetest things, just out of our reach—it's the joy of anticipation and not of realization that is the only unalloyed pleasure to be had in life, aside from one phase—a good Christian life.

The fellow would acquire new acquaintances who would be better fixed in this world's goods—it is the magnet which attracts all of us—and soon would find himself as poor in purse, and perhaps in more embarrassing and annoying financial difficulties than when he drew a nominal salary or income, trying to keep the pace with them. It was ever thus.

Now a word about the real happy man. First of all he must be a good Christian. But let us picture a local condition and a local character for we know one, if it be permissible to sit in judgment. He is a fellow employed at one of the furniture factories, drawing a salary of eleven dollars a week. He owns a modest home and bought it out of his weekly savings. My, but there is glory and satisfaction in this. No matter what comes or goes he puts away three dollars every week—besides his good wife manages to save a little from her allowance.

They have two children, both healthy and both in school. The husband works ten hours a day; the rest of his time he happily spends with his family at home. Social functions and bright, many colored bubbles of foolishly hoped for things of the future find no place in his life. The latest modes and fashions do not interest him; in fact he still wears his wedding suit for best (a cut-away [clay worsted, now nine years old.) Gossip mongering and neighborhood strifes are none of his—his little family composes his Kingdom on earth. His hope is to educate his children, see them reared properly, happily married if possible, and then leave them what small amount of earthly possessions he can accumulate by his weekly savings. It is no sacrifice on his part to put the money by each week for the world holds out no inducements for him to spend it; on the other hand, it is really a pleasure to save it. Theatres, skating rinks, circuses, entertainments and amusements of any and every sort do not appeal to him. Neither does he use intoxicants or tobacco. Attending prayer meeting on Thursday evening and all the services at his church on Sunday constitutes all his going, except to make the necessary trips to the business houses which is generally done, accompanied by his family on Saturday night. We say he is an old fogey—a man of stone and clay; but he is happy—we are not.

He lives a life of righteousness in a hope of enjoying the pleasures of eternal bliss in the hereafter. As far as it is possible for man to be happy on earth, this man is that happy.

But God did not ordain for man to be supremely happy on earth since the first couple were driven out of the Garden of Eden. The story of the King who offered a handsome sum to any man in his kingdom who could honestly declare he was a happy and satisfied man, might be applicable here. To those who inquired after the gold, saying they were happy and contented he asked of them then why did they come for more money.

Unfortunately, it is the way with most of us. We are never satisfied; never contented and continually wishing and grumbling. The joy of the anticipation of a mansion in the house of many mansions hereafter, is after all, the only path leading to the road of HAPPINESS on earth.

CLOUD LIFTED IN HIS TWILIGHT

Aged Colored Draymen Receives Glad Tidings When his Spirits Were Low

"Good Lawd, look at this heah snow," said George Anderson, the old colored drayman when the blizzard of yesterday began to blow in his face, and he was obliged to turn his old skinny horse into a place out of the weather. "Jes look at that stuff. Goin' to fall fa evah aint it? An' I ain't got no more wood dan you could shake a stick at," the old fellow lamented as he drew his tattered old overcoat around his neck and fastened it with a large horse blanket pin.

George evidently had visions of several cold nights ahead and occasionally he would shudder and chill at the very thoughts of it. But with the snow came glad tidings. Like the Magi who came out of the East, came an envelope from the pension department yesterday evening for the old colored man who carried a musket in the Civil war, and it contained what will mean a fortune to the now disabled and feeble old veteran. He received notification of an increase in his pension of from $12 to $15 monthly and he will receive back pay, according to the increase for all the time he has been on the pension list.

NO CHERRIES TO BE SOLD ON WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

In some localities of the State the saloon men are preparing to test the legality of Washington's birthday which falls on Saturday next, as a legal holiday, but it is not likely that the retail liquor dealers of Rushville will participate in any such movement. So far it is believed that every wet goods dealer will close on that day.

CARTHAGE WOMAN ENJOYS HER WORK

Miss Lillian Henley, one of the Best Library Cataloguers in State, Completes Task

Miss Lillian Henley, who has been engaged in cataloging the city library, for the past three months, says the Connersville Examiner, has completed her work and returned to her home in Carthage for a visit of a week, after which she will take up the work of cataloging the scientific works in foreign languages in the state library at Indianapolis.

The work of cataloging the local library was expensive, but it was badly needed and could be done at this time much easier than at any other time. The city was fortunate in being able to secure the services of Miss Henly, who is considered one of the finest catalogers in the country.

Miss Henly is the daughter of a banker at Carthage and is engaged in her present work more for the enjoyment she gets from it than any financial remuneration. She is highly educated and has traveled extensively in this country and Europe.

SHACKLE REFILED BIG DAMAGE SUIT

I. & C. Traction Company would Have Won Case Had Defendant Not Withdrawn

The case of Joseph Shackles vs. the I. & C. traction company and the Indiana Construction company, in which he sued for $15,000 damages for alleged injuries sustained in a gravel pit, after being dismissed in the Marion circuit court has been refiled in the Hancock circuit court in which he now asks $30,000.

The case was first heard before Judge Lathers of the Marion circuit court February 5th and after the plaintiff introduced his evidence and before they introduced any of their witnesses the I. & C. company through its attorneys made a motion, asking the court to instruct the jury for a verdict favoring the defendant. In the meantime the jury had been dismissed for the day.

The judge sustained the motion and said that he would instruct the jury to return a verdict in favor of the defendant, but before the jury returned the plaintiff dismissed his case in that court.

The plaintiff has refiled his suit in the Hancock county court and now asks $30,000 damages.

The Fighting Chance.

...By...
ROBERT W.
CHAMBERS.

Copyright, 1906, by the Curtis Publishing Company.
Copyright, 1908, by Robert W. Chambers.

Certainly Quarrier had several matters to ponder over and provide for and first and foremost of all to provide for his own security and the vital necessity of preserving his name and his character untainted. In this he had to deal with that miserable judge who had betrayed him; with Mortimer, who had once blackmailed him and who now was temporarily in his service; with Mrs. Mortimer, who—God knew how, when or where—had become suspicious of Agatha and himself; with Major Belwether, who had deserted him before he could sacrifice the major and whom he now hated and feared for having stumbled over suspicious similar to Mrs. Mortimer's. He had to deal with Sylvia herself and with Seward—reckon with Seward's knowledge of matters which it were best that Sylvia should not know. But first of all and most important of all he had to deal with Beverly Plank. And he was going to do it in a manner that Plank could not have foreseen. He was going to stop Plank where he stood, and to do this he was deliberately using his knowledge of the man and paying Plank the compliment of counting on his sense of honor to defeat him.

For he had suddenly found the opportunity to defend himself. He had discovered the joint in Plank's old fashioned armor—the armor of the old paladins, who placed a woman's honor before all else in the world. Now, through his creature, Mortimer, he could menace Plank with a threat to involve him and Leila in a vile publicity. Plank must sign the truce or face with Leila an action for damages and divorce.

First of all he went to the Lenox club and dressed. Then he dined sparingly and alone. The motor car was waiting when he came out ready to run down to the great Hotel Corona, whither the Japanese steward had conducted Mortimer. Mortimer had dined heavily, but his disorganized physical condition was such that it had scarcely affected him at all.

Again Quarrier went over patiently and carefully the very simple part he had reserved for Mortimer that evening, explaining exactly what to say to Leila and what to say to Plank in case of insolent interruption. Then he told Mortimer to be ready at 9 o'clock, turned on his heel with a curt word to the Japanese, descended to the street, entered his motor car again and sped away to the Hotel Santa Regina.

Miss Catthness was at home, came the message in exchange for his cards for Agatha and Mrs. Vendenning. He entered the gilded elevator, stepped out on the sixth floor into a tiny, rocco, public reception room. Nobody was there besides himself. Agatha's maid came presently, and he turned and followed her into the large and very handsome parlor belonging to the suit which Agatha was occupying with Mrs. Vendenning for the few days that they were to stop in town.

"Hello!" she said serenely sauntering in, her long, pale hands bracketed on her narrow hips, her lips disclosing her teeth in a smile so like that nervous muscular recession which passed for a smile on Quarrier's visage that for one moment he recognized it and thought she was mocking him. But she strolled up to him, meeting his eye calmly, and lifted her slim neck, lips passive under his impetuous kiss.

"Is Mrs. Vendenning out?" he asked, laying his hands on the bare shoulders of the tall, pallid girl—tall as he and as pallid.

"No, Mrs. Ven. is in, Howard."

"Now? You mean she is coming in to interrupt?"

"Oh, no! She isn't fond of you, Howard."

"You said"—he began almost angrily, but she laid her fingers across his lips.

"I said a very foolish thing, Howard. I said that I'd manage to dispense with Mrs. Ven. this evening."

"You mean that you couldn't manage it?"

"Not at all. I could easily have managed it. But—I didn't care to."

She looked at him calmly at close range as he held her embraced, lifted her arms and with slender white fingers patted her hair into place where his arm around her head had dis-ranged it, watching him all the while out of her pale, haunted eyes.

"You promised me," he said, "that you—"

"Oh, Howard! Do men still believe in promises?"

Quarrier's face had color enough now. His voice, too, had lost its passionless, monotonous precision. Whatever was in the man of emotion was astir. His impatient voice, his lack of poise, the almost human lack of caution in his speech betrayed him in a new and interesting light.

"Look here, Agatha! How long is this going to last? Are you trying to make a fool of me? What is the matter? Is there anything wrong?"

"Wrong? Oh, dear, no! How could there be anything wrong between you and me?"

"Agatha, what is the matter? Look here! Let's settle this thing now and settle it one way or the other! I won't stand it! I—I can't! Did you ever misunderstand me? Did I give you any chance to? Were you ignorant of what that meant?" with a gesture toward the splendid crescent of flashing gems, scintillating where the low lace bodice met the silky luster of her skin. "Did you misinterpret the collar or the sudden change of fortune in your own family's concerns? Answer me, Agatha, once for all. But you need not answer, after all. I know you have never misunderstood me."

"I misunderstood nothing," she said.

"You are quite right."

"Then what are you going to do?"

"Do?" she said in slow surprise.

"What am I to do, Howard?"

"You have said that you loved me."

"I said the truth, I think."

"Then—"

"How long are you going to keep me at arm's length?" he asked violently.

"That lies with you," she said, smiling. She looked at him for a moment; then, resting her hands on her hips, she began to pace the floor, to and fro, to and fro, and at every turn she raised her head to look at him. All the strange grace of her became insolent provocation, her pale eyes, clear, limpid, harboring no delusions, haunted with the mockery of wisdom, challenged and checked him. "Howard," she said, "why should I be the fool you want me to be because I love you? Why should I be even if I wished to be? You desire an understanding? Voila! You have it. I love you. I never misunderstood you from the first. I could not afford to. You know what I am. You know what you arouse in me."

Slim, pale, depraved in all but body, she stood, eying him a moment, the very incarnation of vicious perversity.

"You know what you arouse in me," she repeated. "But you don't count on it."

"You have encouraged—permitted me to count"—His anger choked him, or was it the haunting wisdom of her eyes that committed him to silence?

"I don't know," she said musingly, "what it is in you that I am so mad about—whether it is your brutality, or the utter corruption of you that holds me, or your wicked eyes of a woman, or the fascination of the mask you turn on the world and the secret visage, naked in its vice, that you reserve for me. But I love you—in my fashion. Count on that, Howard, for that is all you can surely count on. And now, at last, you know."

As he stood there it came to him slowly that deep within him he had always known this; that he had never really counted on anything else, though he had throated his doubts by covering her throat with diamonds. Her strangeness, her pallor, her acquiescence, the delicate hint of depravity in her, the subtle response to all that was worst in him had attracted him, only to learn, little by little, that the talent of corruption was only a talent infecting others, not her; that the promise of evil was only a promise; that he had to deal with a young body, but an old intelligence, and a mind so old that at moments her faded gaze almost appalled him with its indolent clairvoyance.

Long since he knew, too, that in all the world he could never again find such a mate for him. This had, unadmitted even to himself, always remained a hidden secret within this secret man, an unacknowledged, undrawn on reserve in case of the failure which he, even in sanguine moods, knew in his inmost corrupted soul that his quest was doomed to.

Agatha Catthness.

And now he had no more need of secrets from himself. Now, turning his gaze inward, he looked upon all with which he had chosen to deceive himself. And there was nothing left for self-deception.

"If I marry you," he said calmly, "at least I know what I am getting."

"I will marry you, Howard. I've got to marry somebody pretty soon. You or Captain Voucher."

For an instant a vicious light flashed in his narrowing eyes. She saw it and shook her head with weary cynicism.

"No, not that. It could not attract me even with you. It is really vulgar—that arrangement. Noblesse oblige, mon ami. There is a depravity in marrying you that makes all lesser vices stale as virtues."

He said nothing. She looked at him, lazily amused; then, inattentive, turned and paced the floor again.

"Shall I see you tomorrow?" he demanded.

"If you wish, Captain Voucher came down on the same train with me. I'll set him adrift if you like."

"Is he preparing for a declaration?" sneered Quarrier.

"I think so," she said simply.

"Well, if he comes tonight after I'm gone, you wait a final word from me. Do you understand?" he repeated, with repressed violence.

"No, Howard. Are you going to propose to me tomorrow?"

"You'll know tomorrow," he retorted angrily. "I tell you to wait. I've a right to that much consideration anyway."

"Very well, Howard," she said, recognizing in him the cowardice which she had always suspected to be there.

She bade him good night. He touched her hand, but made no offer to kiss her. She laughed a little to herself, watching him striding toward the elevator.

She turned leisurely, her slim hands balanced lightly on her narrow hips, and strolled into the second dressing room, where Mrs. Vendenning sat sullenly indulging in that particular species of solitaire known as "The Idiot's Delight."

"Well?" inquired Mrs. Vendenning, looking up at the tall, pale girl she was chaperoning so carefully during their sojourn in town. "What did Howard Quarrier want?"

"He knows, I think, but he hasn't yet informed me."

"I'll tell you one thing, Agatha," said Mrs. Vendenning, gathering up the packs for a new shuffle. "Grace Ferrall doesn't fancy Howard's attention to you, and she's beginning to say so. When you go back to Shotover you'd better let him alone."

"I'm not going back to Shotover," said Agatha.

"What?"

"No, I don't think so. However, I'll let you know tomorrow. It all depends—but I don't expect to." She turned as her maid tapped on the door. "Oh, Captain Voucher. Are you at home to him?" flipping the pasteboard on to the table among the scattered cards.

"Yes," said Mrs. Vendenning aggressively, "unless you expect him to flop down on his knees tonight. Do you?"

"I don't—tonight. Perhaps tomorrow. I don't know. I can't tell yet." And to her maid she nodded that they were at home to Captain Voucher.

Quarrier had met him, too, just as he was leaving the hotel lobby. They exchanged the careful salutations of men who had no use for one another. On the Englishman's clean cut face a deeper hue settled as he passed; on Quarrier's not a trace of emotion, but when he entered his motor he sat bolt upright, stiff backed and stiff necked, his long gray gloved fingers moving restlessly over his pointed beard.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaude and Grand theatres had good crowds last night considering the weather.

The Vaude will have an excellent program tonight consisting of the latest pictures and song.

The Grand theatre offers another big hit tonight in both illustrated song and moving pictures.

There will be a private skating party at Kramer's rink tonight. Skating every afternoon and evening this week.

The popular musical mixture entitled "The Mayor of Laughland," to which the Nixon & Zimmerman Amusement company have nominated that prince of comedians, Tom Waters, the attraction to be seen at the auditorium Connersville, Friday night, is to judge by the amount of praise and the evident approval all along the line, the big fun show of the year. The company is headed by Tom Waters, a comedian of inexhaustable resources, who although on the stage during a large portion of the entire performance, presents a variety of work so acceptable that he keeps the audience in an uproar from start to finish. He is a musician of rare skill and much flash. Major Casper Nowak, who is smaller than the average minute, is a capital foil and punctuates every speech in a manner that stamps him the clever artist he is. Otto Koerner as the Dutch comedian, who also stands high in the ranks of German comedians, and comes in for a liberal share of applause. New songs that are popular and pleasing being rendered in a manner that brings forth all that is desired and the costuming and stage work gives evidence of the presence of a master hand that is prevalent with all companies to which Nixon & Zimmerman's name is attached.

Harmon of Ohio

Finished Jurist, Candidate of Conservative Democrats For the Presidency, Is a Fighter of Political Bosses—Six Foot Optimist Who Is the Soul of Good Nature.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

It is seldom that one city can boast three presidential possibilities at one time, a distinction that belongs to Cincinnati this year. The fact that Cincinnati is in Ohio accounts for it. Ohio is almost as prolific of possible presidents as it is of buckeyes. It not only has a crop of its own, but when other states want to support the luxury of a favorite son they are often compelled to fall back on a citizen transplanted from Ohio. There are Buckeyes who have come to regard the White House as a state institution.

Taft, Foraker and Judson Harmon are the three candidates who are now making Cincinnati about the warmest spot on the political map. The careers of the three men are closely intermingled. All three are natives of Ohio. Taft and Harmon were born in the same county, Hamilton, and Foraker and Harmon were born in the same year, 1846. All three are lawyers, and all three sat on the bench of the superior court of Cincinnati. Foraker and Harmon served in this capacity at the same time. Then Foraker was elected governor, and when Harmon resigned from the bench to resume the practice of law in 1887 Foraker appointed Taft to the vacancy. The parallel does not end even here. All three are college graduates, Taft from Yale, Foraker from Cornell and Harmon from Denison. All have lived in Washington, two as cabinet officers and one as senator. All three were originally Republicans, Harmon breaking away in the Greeley campaign of 1872. Despite present political differences, the three have been warm personal friends.

What fate is it that twists the past sixty. In the meantime the world has moved its tents considerably farther up the trail. All that makes a difference in relative attitudes. There are people who call Mr. Bryan a conservative today, Bryan himself being among the number. It is all in the point of view; also in the exigencies of politics. There is one thing certain—the American people have moved forward and are still moving. If they have come abreast of the Bryan position, it follows as a matter of course that they are in advance of that of Judge Harmon. That is a story, however, which can only be told by the result of the convention and the election.

Whatever may be Judson Harmon's attitude now compared to that of thirty-five years ago, no one can charge that he has deserted his principles. On the contrary, he was opposed to the greenback propaganda in 1876, just as he was to free silver in 1896. He has fought consistently against local rings and bosses in his own party, and one of the fiercest of these fights occurred but a few years prior to his appointment as attorney general. It is likewise true that while he was a railroad attorney for many years his action as one of the special counsel appointed to investigate rebating on the Santa Fe was more drastic than the administration would uphold. He, with the associate counsel, found that the official chiefly at fault was Paul Morton, who had been one of the vice presidents of the road and was then a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet. Mr. Roosevelt would not have Morton prosecuted, and Judge Harmon resigned. Some of his prestige today is due to the deep impression created by that cents are alike, except that some are more depraved than others, and among these was Jud Harmon. All students want to do things to the faculty, and some do them. Among these again was Harmon. That is why he did not graduate till a day late and but for a small French revolution in that particular college would not have graduated at all.

Selected as a Burnt Offering.

Most colleges have fake commencement programmes that roast the dignified professors, trustees, students and everybody worth roasting. The one of June, 1866, at Denison was especially notable. It changed the junior class exercises into a howling farce and made the stately trustees so chokingly wrathful that there had to be a victim. Harmon's earmarks were all over the fake programme, so he was selected as the burnt offering to appease the anger of the powers that were.

The fact that Harmon had been left off and was not to receive his sheepskin did not dawn on the audience till near the close of the exercises. It was a mean and small way of getting even and created an uproar of protest. "Harmon, Harmon!" went up the shouts from all sides, and in the midst of the turmoil the faculty completed the ceremony and fled out through a side door. Thereupon the student body and alumni hastily convened and passed resolutions after the good old American way. Whenever two or three Americans get a grievance there is the resolution in the midst of them. They as naturally run to "whereases" and oratory as an Italian vendetta does to stiletto or an Irish fair to shillalahs.

The Denison students and alumni resolved that Jud Harmon should be graduated without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation on earth. The faculty refused. The students thereupon resolved to strike, boycott the institution and to do all the dire things that could suggest themselves to an excited body of young men. This made a dent in the faculty, and after some further "whereasing" and "resolving" consent was given that Harmon might graduate.

The next day when the ceremony was to take place the student body got out a brass band, formed a procession, escorted Harmon to the hall like a conquering hero and after he received the coveted sheepskin "rah-rahed" all the rest of the day and into the beginning of the next. The spirit of the Declaration of Independence got in its work on that student body in fine style.

What chance had a mere board of college trustees before a force that had walked all over kings and thrones? With such a start in life there is no wonder that Jud Harmon's friends think he is endowed with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness and the right to run for president.

One of the Home Guard.

It was shortly before this stirring revolt against the tyrant that young Harmon had his war experiences. Having martial ardor and being a preacher's son do not go together. Young Harmon found it so, and when he would a soldier be he discovered that the first enemy he would have to whip was his father. Not caring to gain military renown in such a hard way, he relinquished his dreams. He did run away from home, however, to join the home guard, that gallant body which went to repel Generals Kirby Smith and John Morgan. Like the king of France, the home guard marched up the hill and then marched down again. Unlike Caesar, it came, it saw, it scampered.

After participating in this valiant feat at arms young Harmon had an actual warlike bout with his father. In this celebrated battle the weapons were shingles, and only one side was armed. The late member of the home guard was totally and disastrously defeated, after which he was bundled off to school. The warlike spark was not entirely quenched, but it had to blaze into eloquence rather than into valor. Young Harmon made one speech on the college campus which was so filled with fiery patriotism it is remembered to this day. Bryan is not the only boy orator.

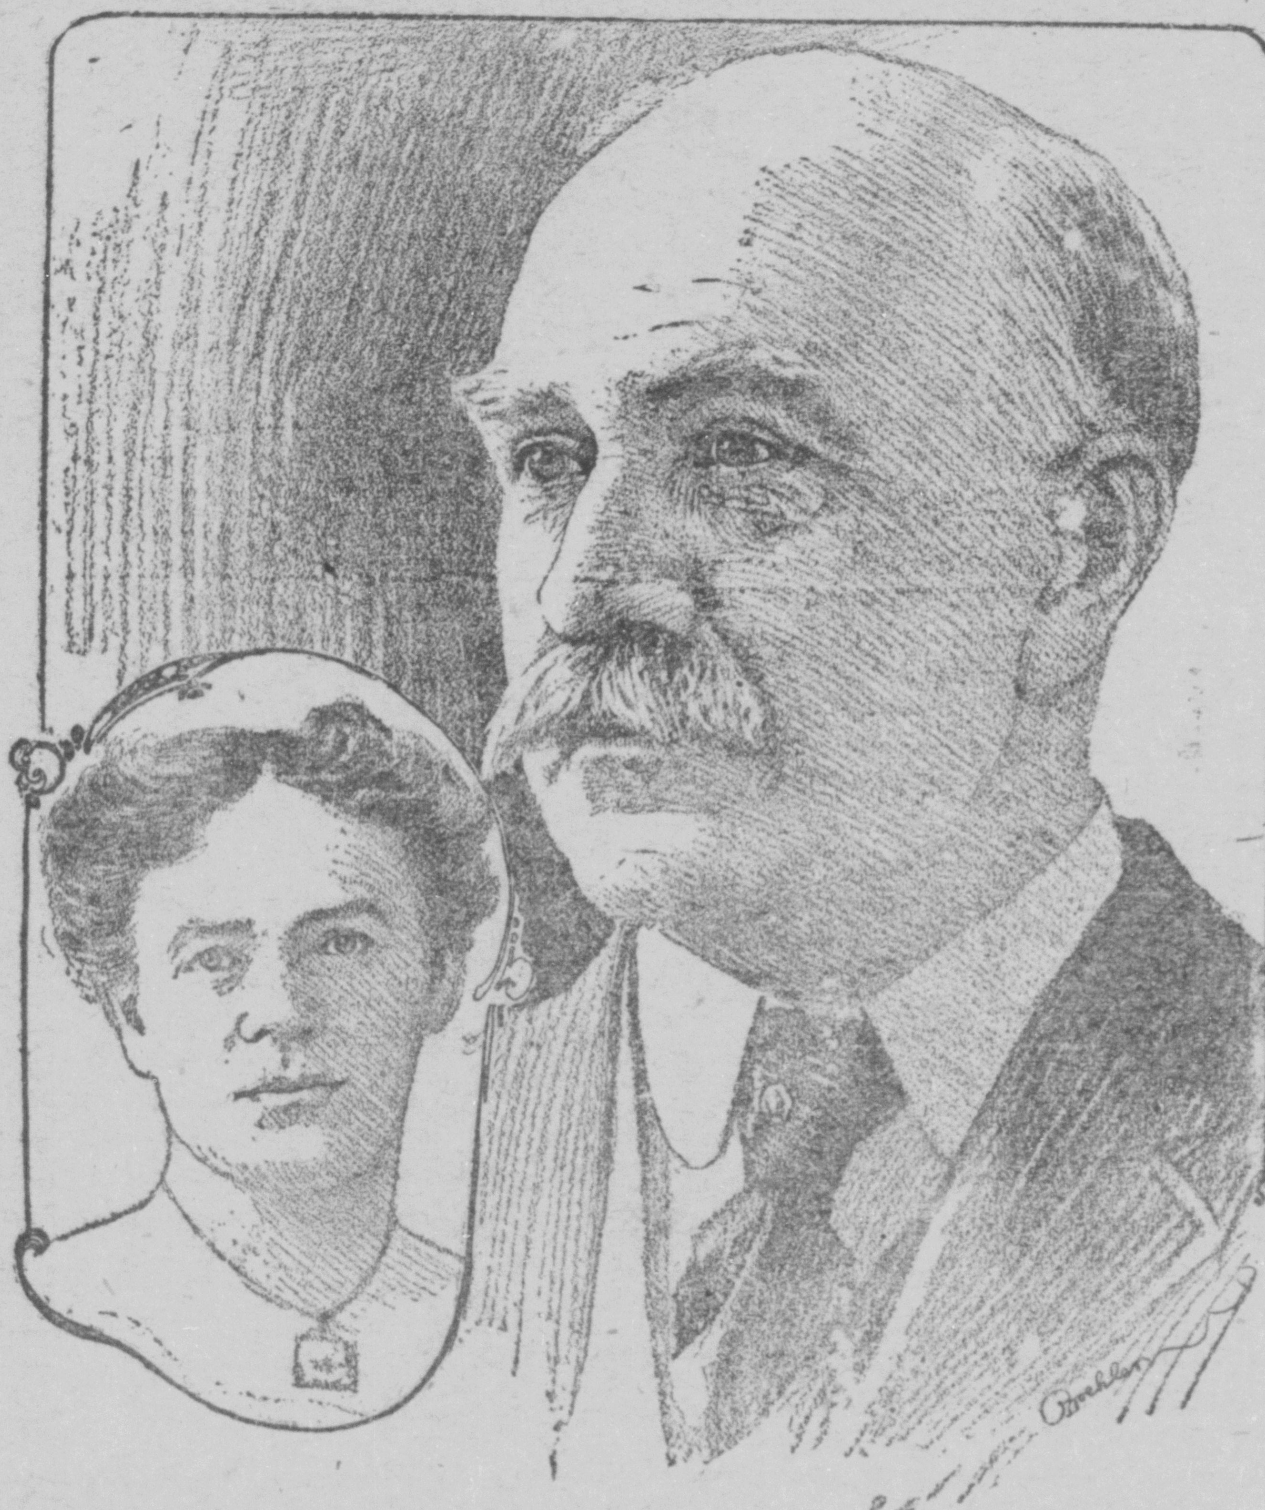

Like all Ohio men and some others, Mr. Harmon is an optimist. It is harder to be an optimist now than it was six months ago, but so far as heard from Judge Harmon is still sticking. That eminent but intermittent Cincinnati, William Howard Taft, is likewise an optimist. All men are who weigh over 300 pounds.

One thing in Judge Harmon's favor is his name—it is so much like harmony. If there is one thing the Democratic party "long has sought and mourned because" it "found it not," that one thing is harmony. If a radical is nominated, the conservatives knife him; if a conservative is nominated, the radicals knife him, and if a betwixt and between man is nominated they jump on him both ways from the middle.

Judge Harmon is even more of an athlete than President Roosevelt. He has a hand and foot as big as Jeffries and hits almost as hard. He is also a good shot and, while he does not hunt bears with a brass band, is not without fame as a Nimrod. That is one of the things that recommended him to President Cleveland.

Mrs. Harmon was a Miss Scobey, daughter of a prominent physician of Hamilton, O. She is as large and fine looking for a woman as Judge Harmon is as a man and has the same conservative ideals and tastes. They have three daughters, all of whom are popular in Cincinnati and Washington.

Personally Judge Harmon is not worried about his prospects of becoming president. He is convinced, as are some others, that this is not a good year for conservatives, but he is ready, as he ever has been, to stand up for his principles.

JUDGE JUDSON HARMON AND MRS. HARMON.

threads of destiny in such strange ways? Even now this truly remarkable parallel is not at an end. It is absolutely certain that at least two of these men and possibly all three are to be disappointed in their presidential aspirations.

Since leaving the bench of the superior court of Cincinnati, Harmon has been attorney general of the United States, Foraker has been governor and senator, and Taft has been solicitor general of the United States, United States circuit judge, governor of the Philippines and secretary of war. If there is anything else that Cincinnati would like, now is the time to speak. No wonder she figures on being the home of the next president.

A "People's Party" Organizer.

Although Judge Harmon is being urged as a candidate of the conservative Democrats, he was not always classed on that side of the house. There was a time when he was a radical of radicals, not only acting as secretary of the Liberal Republicans in the ill starred Greeley campaign, but the next year helping to organize a People's party, which nominated a state ticket, advised everybody to cut out both old parties and wound up by polling not quite so many votes as the Prohibitionists. After that he went out of politics and remained out till 1876, when he became a Tilden Democrat. In that year he was elected a judge of the common pleas court, but served only four months, when he was unseated on a contest.

The radical of today is the conservative of tomorrow. This fact may be due either to the progression of the mass or the retrogression of the individual. Age may have something to do with it. In the days of his Greeley and People's party enthusiasms Harmon was in his twenties. Now he is case. Presidential booms have sprung from less causes.

At the time of Judson Harmon's birth his father was a superintendent of schools in a small Ohio town and afterward became a Baptist preacher. The young man said it was hard to live up to the reputation of a minister's son, but did not explain in what sense he meant it. Others will interpret it according to their ideas of what the reputation of a minister's son really is, provided he has any. Some of them have only the reputation of their fathers.

An "Idol" in College.

In college Jud Harmon is described as an "idol." Most men who become presidential candidates are discovered to have been "idols" in college. It is at least polite to say so. Besides, time mellow all differences, and success conceals all defects. So it happens that when a man has become big enough to be mentioned for the presidency his classmates are in a state of enthusiasm which makes them forget his bad points and magnify his good ones.

It can readily be credited, however, that Harmon was a little tin joss among the "rah-rah" boys. For one thing he was and is a six footer, athletic and full of animal spirits. For another he was and is the soul of good nature. For a third he was a leader in all school pranks. These are qualities that insure a man's popularity in college—or out of college, for the matter of that.

Young Harmon did not graduate with his class, but was given a day all of his own on which he graduated in state—not solemn state, by the way, but brass band, "rah-rah" state. One of his classmates tells the story, and it is exciting enough for the prelude to a presidential campaign. All college stu-

CAMPAIGN YEAR

AND

THE YEAR 1908 WILL MAKE GREAT HISTORY

Probably no year since the Civil War has as great influence upon the United States as the coming year. The Presidential contest, both for nomination and election, involves much more than mere party rivalry. It involves the approval or rejection of the great economic reforms which mark the beginning of a new epoch in American history. It is a fight affecting every man, woman and child, and upon which the interest of the whole world is focused.

When the back aches and throbs When housework is torture, When night brings no rest nor sleep, When urinary disorders set in, Women's lot is a weary one. There is a way to escape these woes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills. Have cured women in Rushville. This is one Rushville woman's testimony.

Mrs. Bern Pruet, 809 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I suffered from a weak back and pains across my kidneys. Added to this was severe headaches, I could not sleep well at night and felt languid and weary all the time. My husband procured Doan's Kidney Pills for me at F. B. Johnson & Company's drug store and I had not taken the contents of one box before the pains were banished and my kidneys had become strengthened. I can conscientiously recommend this remedy to other sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

CITY COUNCIL A QUIET SESSION

Outside of Ordinance Passed There was not Great Deal of Business

The most important action of the city council was the passing of an ordinance requiring the C. H. & D. railroad company to maintain a flagman at Perkins and Main street crossings which is found in another article.

A petition of J. D. Case for the privilege of connecting with the city wells to secure water for a steam boiler at his lumber yards was granted on motion of Reynolds.

The following claims were allowed:

TO PROLONG LIFE

Prevention of Disease Much More Important Than Cure.

"An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure" is especially true in stomach troubles.

A few doses of Mi-o-na stomach tablets taken at the first warning of coated tongue, flatulence, heartburn, headaches, distress after eating and other symptoms of indigestion, will prevent a chronic case of stomach suffering that may last for years.

These little tablets give strength and tone to the muscular wall of the stomach and intestines, and promote the secretion of gastric juices so that whatever food is taken is naturally digested without pain or distress.

Johnson's drug store has seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na that they sell the remedy in 50 cent boxes under a guarantee to refund the money in case it does not cure.

Constipation with all its manifestations of a disturbed liver and indigestion yields quickly to SANOL. It only costs 35 cents to find out the great curative powers in the Sanol Remedies. Take nothing else from the drugist. Remember it is SANOL you want. 35c and $1 per bottle at the drug store.

THE SENSIBLE COUGH CURE

There are kinds of cough remedies which are as bad as the coughs they are intended to cure. They stop the coughs sometimes, but they do it by doing just what a cough cure should not do and that is to dry up the secretions and to strangle the cough by means of opiates. A real cough cure should stimulate the secretions, heal the inflamed surface and cure by removing the cause.

Dr. BEHER'S EXPECTORANT cures in the right way. It has been curing coughs for years and we know of no way in which it could be improved. Our confidence in it is such that we sell each bottle under a positive guarantee. Price 25 and 50c.
